DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

1. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obvious rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

2. Claims 1-22 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Hunt et al (US Patent No. 5,724,524).

Applicant's representative generally argues that movie and movie talent are not interchangeable with traditionally traded commodities and derivatives in computerized systems. A applicant further states that investors in the game can invest in their favorite actor or actress in their movie, and that the prior art does not disclose or suggest setting a market price for instrument based at least in part on criteria associated with movie or talent. In response, the claims show no difference between trading any traditionally traded securities and movie or talent. Regardless of the items being traded, the system of Hunt et al would function equally. Furthermore as stated before in the prior Office action. Again,

The Examiner submit that Hunt et al includes a storage and processing function within is teachings such as the claimed invention and would produce the same result with the exception that different forms or types of data are being claimed. The Examiner further submit that only data is stored in memory, and regardless of the type or difference in the data it does not affect the functioning of systems having similar data processing logic. See in re Gulack 703 F.2d 1381, 1385, 217 USPQ 401, 404 (Fed. Cir. 1983); In re Lowry, 32 f.3d 1579, 32 USPQ2d 1031 (Fed. Cir. 1994).

Therefore, it would have been obvious to a person of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to represent the derivative financial instruments as corresponding to any type financial data or items or data of value because such data does not functionally relate to the steps in the claimed method. It does not follow that a new and unobvious functional relationship exists between the data structure and the machine read-able medium or claimed system. Thus, the subjective interpretation of the data does not patentably distinguish the claimed invention.

This is a RCE of applicant's earlier Application No. 09,465,607. All claims are drawn to the same invention claimed in the earlier application and could have been finally rejected on the grounds and art of record in the next Office action if they had been entered in the earlier application. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL even though it is a first action in this case. See MPEP § 706.07(b). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no, however, event will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
